LABOR'S PLACE IN HISTORY

LABOR'S place in history has been chronicled through the years in numerous labor journals.

The publications have ranged in format from magazines, like The International Teamster, to 8-column newspapers, to tabloids, to pocket-sized volumes, to mimeographed sheets, even to hand-written notes passed from one worker to another.

Always the labor journals have discussed the wages, hours and working conditions of wage earners—union and non-union. They have dwelt upon the injustices of economic servitude. They have discussed the needs of communities in terms of education, welfare, and related services. They have inspired legislation by disclosure of scandalous conditions such as in the era of child labor.

In terms of action, labor journals have never been reluctant to relate the stories of strikes and picketline strife where company goons, local lawmen and guardsmen have run amuck with clubs, shotguns and bayonets. Telling the story of worker abuse and the pains of their families, labor journals have often been alone while the commercial press stood mute as an ox.

In short, labor publications have helped fight the good fight with fervor and facts.

This is why it was not surprising when some professors found in a study recently that readers have a high degree of trust in the labor press. The study, by Professors Norman Blume and Schley Lyon of the University of Toledo, determined that 92 per cent of the people who receive union publications read them.

The professors also learned that in comparison with daily newspapers and television, labor newspapers enjoy a high rating for credibility—winning the readers' trust much more than the commercial news media.

It also was determined that labor publications scored more favorably when readers were asked which news source they trusted least. Only 2 per cent discounted their union publication. Some 5 per cent distrusted television news. A solid 21 per cent said they distrusted their daily newspapers.

There were some elements in the professors' study, however, that were challenging in terms of the effectiveness of labor publications. There was the suggestion, for example, that there is a bloc of skeptics who do not trust any news media, labor or commercial.

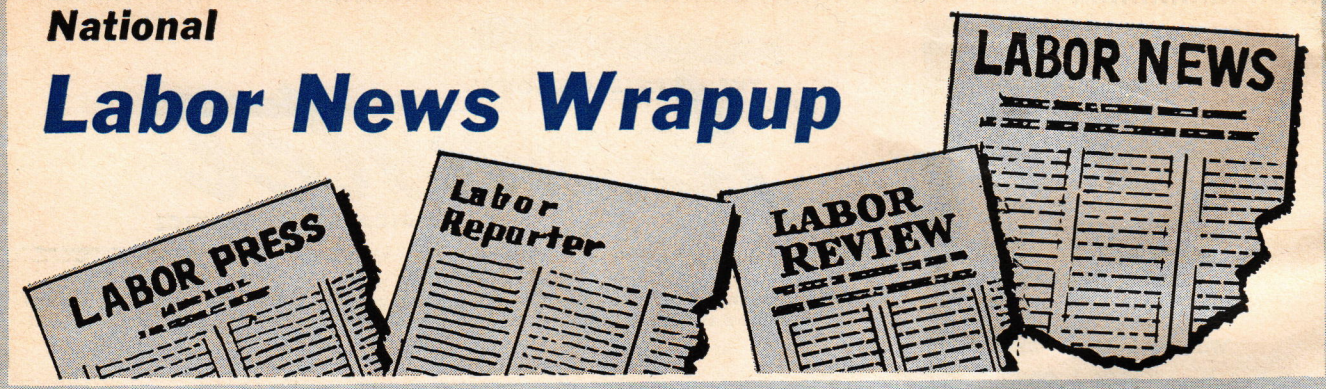

At least the union member can be sure that his labor publication will seldom try to bracket his mind with a forked tongue—saying opposite things on two different pages. A good example of the two-pronged commercial press occurred after the recent steel settlement.

The Christian Science Monitor—which, despite its religious ties, is a newspaper in business for profit—published an editorial stating that steelworker "wage increases of this size have a habit of getting passed on to the steel users in the form of higher steel prices (and then to the consumer)." But the editorial failed to mention the contribution to inflation that is made by excessive profit.

In the same issue of the Monitor, a story on the business page reported a 47 per cent gain in second-quarter (before settlement) profits for Bethlehem Steel, and added that the company planned a general price hike (after settlement).

These are the things that influence reader credibility.

National Labor News Wrapup

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Both the American Federation of Teachers AFL-CIO and the administrator-oriented National Education Association anticipate that there will be scores of teacher strikes when schools open in September. Strike estimates have gone as high as 400. Last year there were 126 walkouts in elementary and high schools.

HOUSTON, TEX.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers said its recent 9-day convention in Houston was the shortest in over 70 years. The reason, said the BLE, was "due to the untiring labor and sense of urgency" of the 800 delegates.

CHIGAGO—Benefits seem to follow a good unionist around. Take the case of Ralph Wise, a member of the United Auto Workers employed at Ford's assembly plant here. He has received word that he won the Irish Sweepstakes' $120,000 grand prize.

MINNEAPOLIS—In recognition of the fact that current legislation forbids strikes by Federal employees, the United Federation of Postal Clerks has dropped its "no-strike" clause from its constitution. At its national convention, the union accepted a resolution to change the constitution and is pitching for binding arbitration.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Union stewardesses who have been waging a 2-year battle against rules which call for discharge after they reach a certain age, or marry, have won their struggle. The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has issued two rulings that the airlines are in violation of the Civil Rights Act because their rules do not equally apply to male and female employees.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Unfair labor practice charges filed with the National Labor Relations Board during the 2nd quarter of 1968 increased from 4,499 during the first 3 months of the year, to 4,745 for the 2nd quarter. Of these, 3,132 were filed against employers, 1,613 against unions. During the same period, the NLRB General Council issued 472 formal complaints.

LOS ANGELES—A 'truth team' to provide information about the 9-month old strike against the L.A. Herald-Examiner is making appearances throughout the country before state and central labor bodies and other groups. First report of a major triumph came with the announcement that a major brewery in Washington had withdrawn its ads in the paper for the remainder of the year.

MADISONVILLE, KY.—Investigators representing federal and state governments and the United Mine Workers have placed blame on misuse of dynamite in the mine explosion which took 9 miners' lives at the River Queen Mine of the Peabody Coal Company.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Boycott of California grapes has won support of 14 Democratic members of Congress: Burton, Brown, Rees, Hawkins, Royall, Edwards, and Cohelan, all of California; Frazer (Minn.); Scheuer, Rosenthal, Ryan, and Bingham, all of New York; and Conyers and O'Hara, of Michigan.

MILWAUKEE—Compulsory attendance at employer-ordered "gripe" sessions without union participation has been barred under a ruling of a trial examiner for the NLRB. He held it an unfair labor practice to require workers to attend to discuss grievances about terms of employment in the absence of their bargaining representative.

From The FIELD

Miami Local Union Helps Little Leaguers

Teamster Local 390 of Miami, Fla., came to the rescue recently when a problem arose of how to transport 15 members of the City of Miami Playground Little League All-Stars to the state tournament in Pensacola.

W. H. Lasater, president of Local 390, volunteered the union's "Sunshine Coach," a small bus normally used by the union to transport handicapped children on outings. The union also provided the driver and the fuel necessary to make the trip. Local 390's transportation "gift" was made after most of the bus companies in the area had declined help for one reason or another.

Although they didn't win the state title, the Miami little leaguers did manage to finish third in the tournament and enjoyed a banquet given by a father of one of the players.

Rhode Island Member Receives VFW Honor

Austin O. Tague, a member of Teamster Local 64 in Providence, R.I., recently was cited by the national headquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars as an "All American Commander of the Year."

Tague, a driver-salesman employed in Pawtucket, R.I., by Continental Baking Co., has been a Teamster since 1954.

The award given to Tague was significant in view of the fact that he was the first Rhode Islander ever to receive the honor, and also, only 44 of the VFW's 64,000 post commanders are given the citation.

Kittanning Teamster Tops in Pennsylvania

Melvin W. Crytzer, a member of Teamster Local 538 in Kittanning, Pa., since 1937, recently was named Pennsylvania's "Driver of the Year" by the state's trucking association.

Crytzer, a driver for Bell Transit Co., has driven more than a million miles without accident.

Food Fakers Use Teamster Name

Members of Teamster Local 431, their union, and the community of Fresno, Calif., all have been victims recently of a new and especially despicable con game.

Harry Kachadoorian, secretary-treasurer of Local 431, said that for the past few weeks persons representing themselves as Teamsters Union members—without any authorization or identification—have been calling on merchants and wholesalers to pick up food they profess is for Teamster picnics.

Kachadoorian said, "We'd have to be holding picnics once or more each day and, even then, couldn't begin to consume what has been demanded by these phonies."

Local Union Helps Reservation Indians

The Industrial Union division of Teamster Local 970 in Minneapolis, Minn., has been spearheading a drive to raise $5,000 to provide equipment for an industrial workshop to be used by Indians on the Mille Lacs reservation.

Earl Drange, Local 970 secretary-treasurer, is chairman of the project. The local union already has shipped an industrial table saw valued at $400 to the workshop.

Teamster Pioneer Retires in Vancouver

Wally Westlake, a long-time member of Teamster Local 189 in Vancouver, B.C., retired recently to end a career as one of the pioneers in the northwest movement.

Westlake started work as a driver-salesman in 1929 and became a member of Local 189 in 1937. Through the years he served his customers on a bakery route so well that he became known as the "Mayor of Granville Street"—the thoroughfare on which he worked.

Scholarships Awarded For Minnesota U.

Teamster Joint Council 32 in Minneapolis, Minn., has awarded $500 scholarships to the youngsters of two members belonging to unions affiliated with the council.

The scholarships, good only at the University of Minnesota and its branches, were given to: Judy M. Clifford, daughter of Frederick Clifford, a member of Teamster Local 289, and Therese Ann Johnson, daughter of Marvin W. Johnson, a member of Teamster Local 145.

Message of the General Vice President

It's Contract Time

THERE IS ONE occasion in the affairs of union business when labor officials can be certain that the meeting hall will be full.

That is when a vote is taken on a new contract. Unfortunately, at other times, the meeting hall is likely to have several empty seats.

But, when determination is made on wages under which the members will work, the hours, the amounts of their fringe benefits, the members are in attendance to have their say-so. That is as it should be.

Another contract expires this year, and a new one must be negotiated, this time in the voting booths across the country.

The contract with the present Administration and the present Congress will have expired, and voters will be negotiating with the incumbents and with those seeking office for the first time.

Never in the history of the country will a more important contract be negotiated. For in that contract, negotiated November 5th—election day—Americans will be making decisions on such pressing problems as:

The conduct of the war in Vietnam; the Urban Crisis; the prospect of another cold war with Soviet Russia; the waging of the war on poverty; an approach to law and order which extends justice to all; tax reform; and the problems of uniting the country behind the common cause of good and welfare for the entire community.

It is for that reason that this issue of the International Teamster magazine presents a special section called "Know Your Congress in Election Year 1968."

We think it extremely important that working men and women participate in the negotiations for a new Administration and a new Congress, and that they do so from a fully informed stance.

This section tells you who the incumbents are, which congressional district you live in, and the voter registration deadline.

I strongly believe that all Teamster members and their family members of voting age must register and vote for a very simple reason:

No matter how good the contracts under which the member works are, they have little meaning if sons are dying on a battlefield, if an Administration or a Congress is anti-labor, if taxes are unfair, if monetary policies are such that interest on borrowing is prohibitive, if crime is rampant in the streets, and if a large segment of our society is shut out from the nation's abundance.

Simply put, that is why it is so very important that working people don't let someone else approve their contract for government.

Working men and women must fill the voting booths in the same manner they fill the union hall when the union contract with the employer is to be voted upon.

If we are to survive as free men, and if the free institution of collective bargaining is to survive, you must register and you must vote November 5th.

The conditions of your contract for government are every bit as important as the conditions of your contract with your employer.

Get registered. Go to the polls on election day.

National Warehouse Division Forms Committees to Meet Corporate Strength

Teamster General Vice President Frank E. Fitzsimmons was feature speaker at Division banquet, where he praised the division for its attainment of goals and gave a detailed explanation of the Alliance for Labor Action. The Division adopted a resolution of support for the Alliance.

THE NATIONAL Warehouse Division of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, at a meeting in Seattle, late in August, created several new committees to deal with corporate giants and to refine bargaining and organizing methods against the giants of industry.

Highlight of the meeting was a banquet address by Teamster General Vice President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, who explained the recent formation of the Alliance for Labor Action joined in July with the United Auto Workers.

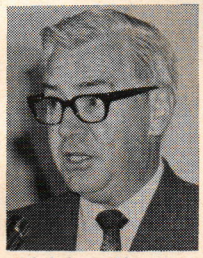

Fitzsimmons was high in his praise of the division for its accomplishments with major U.S. companies and for the attainment of goals set at previous meetings.

Following his explanation of the Alliance for Labor Action and its importance to the labor movement and the country as a whole, the 150 union officers from local unions across the country and Canada, passed a resolution endorsing and supporting the Alliance.

After reports from the various Area Conference warehousing directors and discussions of recent and expected developments in the field, the Division executive committee recommended that the policy committee approve the establishment of several new committees national in structure.

The policy makers approved creation of:

—A National J. C. Penney Comittee, since the company is reentering the warehousing and mail order business.

—A National Sears Roebuck Committee, charged with setting up a program to organize that mail order house.

—A National Grinnell Committee, to follow up the recent Teamster victory connected with that company.

—A National General Electric Committee, to handle warehousing problems connected with that corporation.

As main speaker at the division banquet, Fitzsimmons went into detail on some of the reasons why the ALA came about. He tied his remarks in with the then current intermission between the Republican and Democrat conventions.

"In their quest for votes," Fitzsimmons said, "the two major political parties in this country make much over the fact that they invite testimony before their platform committees to find out what the various organizations representing the people of the country want from their government."

Calling the ALA "our own party platform," Fitzsimmons added that there was a striking difference between what the ALA proposes and the platforms adopted by the GOP and the Dems.

He said: "The difference is that we in the labor movement do not need to hold hearings every four years at a convention to determine the needs of American citizens. We do not need to call people in every four years and ask: What are your grievances; what are your problems; and what do you believe we should be doing to make the American dream a part of every citizen's future?"

Fitzsimmons continued: "We do not need to do this because we take testimony from the American people every day of the year as we go out into the field to organize the unorganized, to process grievances, to negotiate new contracts, and as we go about the day-to-day business of representing people who earn their living by their labor."

Fitzsimmons received a standing ovation at the conclusion of his talk.

A subject gaining considerable attention at the meeting was the growing business trend of "conglomerates"—huge corporations with diversified and unrelated business interests.

International Vice President Harold J. Gibbons of St. Louis, Mo., chairman of the Warehouse Division, commented that new techniques in collective bargaining may be needed in the future to deal with the conglomerates. He added there was still an increasing need for national agreements.

The changing nature of American industry, particularly the "soup to nuts" nature of the conglomerates, also was discussed by Louis Goldblatt, Secretary-Treasurer of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, who was a guest at the conference. He was invited to speak by John J. Greeley, Warehouse Division director, who gaveled most of the meeting.

Taking part in the sessions were several Teamsters Union Vice Presidents, indicating the national scope of the meeting. On hand were: Einar O. Mohn, director of the Western Conference of Teamsters; Murray W. Miller, director of the Southern Conference of Teamsters; Harry A. Tevis of Pittsburgh; George E. Mock of Sacramento, Calif., a pioneer in starting the Warehouse Division 20 years ago; Robert Holmes of Detroit, Mich.; and Fleming Campbell, administrative aide to Vice President Thomas E. Flynn, represented the director of the Eastern Conference of Teamsters.

David Previant, chief labor counsel for the International Union, gave a brief legal report on recent cases of interest in the warehousing area.

The meeting heard a short talk by Dan Evans, governor of Washington and recent keynote speaker at the Republican convention. A word of welcome was extended by the Mayor of Seattle.

In Montreal

ECT Trade Divisions Meet With 600 Delegates in Attendance

International Vice President Joseph Trerotola, secretary-treasurer of the ECT, enjoys a lighter moment at the speaker's rostrum along with GVP Fitzsimmons, main speaker at the trade division meeting.

NEARLY 600 delegates to the Eastern Conference of Teamsters Trade Division meeting in Montreal heard General Vice President Frank E. Fitzsimmons give a resounding speech and rewarded him with a standing ovation.

Fitzsimmons' address highlighted the July 29-Aug. 2 meeting where officers from local unions throughout the eastern half of the United States and Canada not only discussed mutual problems in their areas but celebrated the 15th anniversary of the founding of the Conference.

Tribute was paid by Fitzsimmons to International Vice President Thomas E. Flynn, director of the ECT, who was absent because of illness.

"I'm happy to report," Fitzsimmons said, "that Tom Flynn is on the mend, although it will be some time before he is back at his desk on a fulltime basis."

The General Vice President complimented the Eastern Conference on its achievements through the years in which the membership has grown from around 350,000 in 1953 to the present total of more than 550,000. He said this proved that the Conference has "accepted its responsibilities and is meeting the challenges."

Fitzsimmons also made a special point of congratulating Canadian Teamsters for their hard work in effecting an increase in membership through the years "despite more restrictive labor laws than in the United States."

Organizing, the importance of politics in this troubled election year, development of leadership, and the Alliance for Labor Action—a joint program between the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and the United Auto Workers—were discussed by Fitzsimmons.

Stressing the need for constant contact with the membership, Fitzsimmons added, "I strongly suggest there are young members with leadership qualities who should be developed."

It will take new blood, he implied, to continue the success of the International Union which always has been a result of emphasis on organizing. Noting that automation has destroyed jobs and industries, he said it was important for the IBT to go into new organizing areas.

Teamster Joint Council 91 was the host to the meeting under the direction of H. Ray Greene, president, who is also Canadian representative for the Eastern Conference.

International Vice President Joseph Trerotola of New York, secretary-treasurer of the ECT, took over many of Flynn's chair duties. Also on hand was Vice President Harry Tevis of Pittsburgh, a member of the Conference policy committee; Casey Dodds, coordinator of the Canadian Division; Robert Flynn, administrative assistant to Tom Flynn, and Walter Shea, administrative assistant to Ftizsimmons.

Delegates held sessions in the following trade divisions: Automotive and Petroleum; Laundry and Dry Cleaning; Public Service Employees, Warehouse, Produce, Dry and Cold Storage; Brewery and Soft Drink; Taxi and Chauffeur; Office Employees; Steel Haulers; Dairy Employees; Miscellaneous; Moving and Storage; Cannery; Over-the-Road and Local Cartage; Bakery; Airline; Industrial; Building and Construction.

Robert Flynn, administrative assistant to Thomas E. Flynn, head of the Eastern Conference of Teamsters, brought the delegates the best wishes of his father now recovering from a recent illness.

Nearly 600 delegates attended the Eastern Conference meeting in Montreal. All sessions were well attended as delegates hashed over problems and programs in their divisions.

Talking things over at the head table are International Vice President Harry Tevis (right) of Pittsburgh, and Walter Shea, administrative aide to GVP Fitzsimmons.

'Best in Industry'

New Montgomery Ward Pact Benefits 20,000 Teamsters

MORE than 20,000 members of Teamster locals employed by Montgomery Ward & Co., now are working under a new and vastly improved agreement.

The 3-year package that went into effect August 1st was settled after a return engagement at the bargaining table when members voted by a 10-to-1 ratio in favor of a recommendation by the negotiating committee to reject an earlier offer.

Hard bargaining by the Teamster National Montgomery Ward Council wrought 104 changes in the contract. The long list of amendments included special provisions for members employed in various regions and units of the company.

Donald Peters, president of Teamster Local 743 in Chicago and chairman of the Montgomery Ward Council, described the new agreement as "the best in the nation's mail order industry."

He said wages were increased to a par above the area competition. The contract also includes a cost-of-living clause and sets up automatic progression for increases to replace a "merit" system of advances within job classifications.

An additional holiday was won for members employed in major metropolitan areas. A long-term disability insurance plan was established.

Peters said the package, which won approval from more than 60 per cent of the members voting on the final proposal, also provided for major improvements in the health and welfare, savings (profit sharing), and pension plans.

Other changes to the good were made in job security and seniority provisions which were clarified and improved.

Sharing the achievement of hammering out a new Montgomery Ward & Co., contract affecting 20,000 Teamsters Union members were these union negotiators (left to right): First row—Charles Bub, Local 794 in Albany, N.Y.; Gayle Crawford, 838 in Kansas City, Mo.; Richard Boyles, 789 in Fairmount, W.Va.; Kenneth Hill, 853 in Oakland, Calif; Bruce Fitzgerald, 206 in Portland, Ore.; Edith Lindsay, 452 in Denver, Colo.; Ken Hester, 743 in Chicago; William Wootton, 590 in Baltimore, Md.; Middle row— Donald Peters, chairman, Local 743, Chicago; Charles Kirschbaum, 147, Des Moines, Ia.; John West, 89 in Louisville, Ky.; Joseph Prifril and Willard Carpenter, 149 in St. Paul, Minn.; Matt Ginter, 874 in Rochester, Minn.; Daniel McCaig, 243 in Detroit, Mich.; Damon Stevens, 767 in Ft. Worth, Tex.; Joseph Tyler, 147 in Des Moines, Ia.; Back row—John Sherman, 421 in Dubuque, Ia.; Ted Garcia, 968 in Houston, Tex.; Bert Parker, 554 in Omaha, Neb.; Walter Metcalfe, 243 in Detroit, Mich.; Charles Bohm, 590 in Baltimore, Md.; Kermit Harris and Eugene Carter, 175 in Charleston, W.Va.

Hollywood Candy Boycott Ends

A TWO-YEAR struggle for bargaining rights for nearly 500 employees of Hollywood Candy in Centralia, Illinois, has been won by Local 50 with the company's agreement to recognize the unit and to begin negotiations.

The victory resulted from a two-year consumer boycott conducted by Local 50 with the support of the International Union and with the help and assistance of the IBT National Warehouse Division.

Teamster General Vice President Frank E. Fitzsimmons announced the victory at the recent meeting of the National Warehouse Division in Seattle, Washington.

Fitzsimmons said:

"We have achieved bargaining rights for Hollywood Candy employees with the recognition of the unit by the company. Negotiations are scheduled to get underway in the very near future.

"I congratulate those of you who have been instrumental in this victory, as you have demonstrated the kind of ingenuity which wins decent wages, hours and conditions for the nation's workers.

"We now have the obligation to publicize that the boycott of Hollywood Candy is over with the same vigor with which we publicized the boycott of the products," Fitzsimmons said.

Products of Hollywood Candy include such brand names as Big Pay, Big Time, Butter Nut, Hollywood, Milk Shake, Pay Day, Polar, Snow King, Teddy Bear, X-Tafy Nut, Zero, and combinations specials called Sunday and Tuesday.

The struggle to win bargaining rights for these workers began when they voted in an NLRB election for representation by Local 50.

The company refused to recognize the NLRB election victory by Local 50 and refused to bargain, even though ordered to do so by the NLRB and the courts.

It was then that Local 50 began its consumer boycott, with the blessings of Fitzsimmons and all Teamster affiliates.

The boycott was publicized in the nation's labor press, with handbills and on union bulletin boards.

• Zoo Contract

Some 300 members of Teamster Local 481 employed at the San Diego Zoo have ratified a new contract guaranteeing substantial wage gains over a 3-year period.

Willard Kline, secretary-treasurer of Local 481, said the agreement also provided for a full 365 paid days in a hospital if needed—a big improvement from the previous 70-day allowance.

The union represents most of the zoo employees, including mammal and bird keepers, gardeners, bus drivers, maintenance and construction workers, and vendors.

Know Your Congress In Election Year 1968

On the following pages, you will find a listing of your state's congressional delegation. You will vote November 5th for one U.S. Senator, if one of the two senators from your state is up for reelection. You will vote only for the congressman from your district, unless your state elects congressmen at-large. Determine your congressional district by locating your county on the map of your state. Your county falls within a congressional district which is numbered and is designated by a heavy, dark line.

ALABAMA

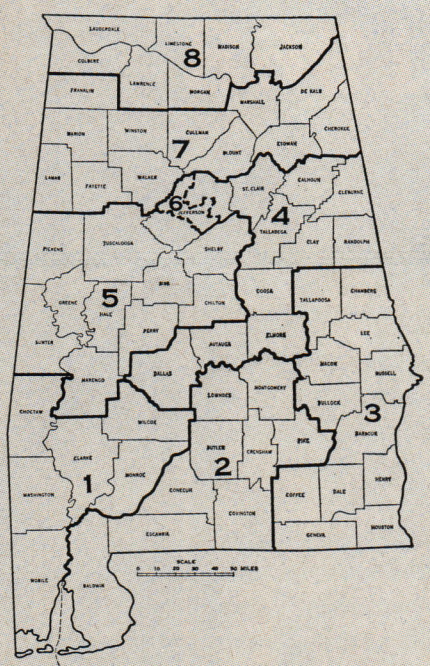

Sen. Hill

Sen. Sparkman

Senators: Lister Hill and John J. Sparkman, both democrats. Senator Hill's seat is up for reelection. He has announced his retirement.

Congressmen: Alabama has 8 congressmen.* Jack Edwards (R), 1st district, Mobile; William L. Dickinson (R), 2nd district, Montgomery; George W. Andrews (D), 3rd district, Union Springs; William Nichols (D), 4th district, Sylacauga; Armistead I. Selden, Jr., (D), 5th district, Greensboro, retiring John Buchanan (R), 6th district, Birmingham; Tom Bevill (D), 7th district, Jasper; and Robert E. Jones (D), 8th district, Scottsboro.

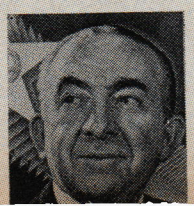

(Deadline for voter registration for the November 5th General Election in Alabama is October 25th.)

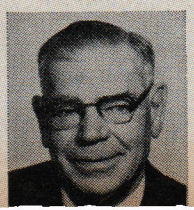

ALASKA

Senators: E. L. Bartlett and Ernest Gruening. Both are Democrats. Gruening was defeated in primary by Mike Gravel.

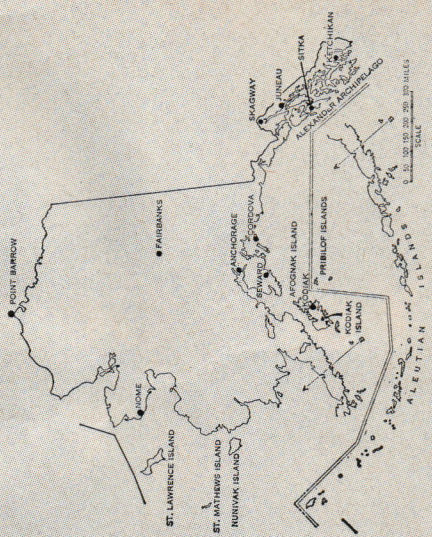

Sen. Gruening

Sen. Bartlett

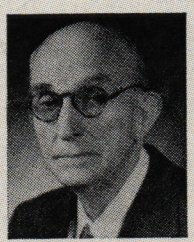

Congressmen: Alaska has one at-large congressman.* He is Howard W. Pollock (R).

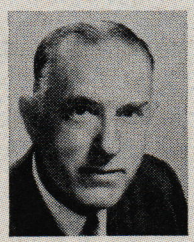

(Alaska has no preregistration requirements for the General Election November 5th.)

ARIZONA

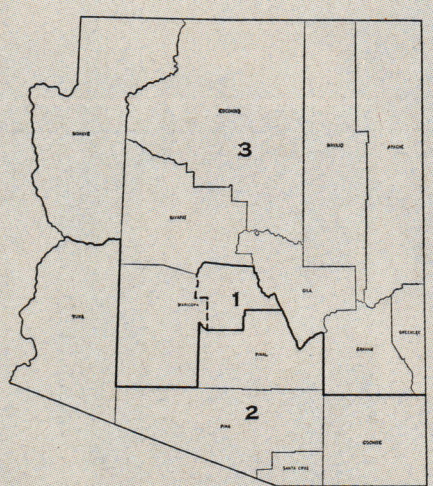

Sen. Hayden

Sen. Fannin

Senators: Carl Hayden, a Democrat, and Paul J. Fannin, a Republican. Hayden has announced his retirement, and seeking his seat on the GOP ticket is former Arizona Senator and 1964 GOP Presidential candidate Barry Goldwater.

Congressmen: Arizona has three congressmen.* John J. Rhodes (R), 1st district, Mesa; Morris K. Udall (D), 2nd district, Tucson; and Sam Steiger (R), 3rd district, Prescott.

(Deadline for voter registration for the November 5th General Election in Arizona is September 23rd.)

ARKANSAS

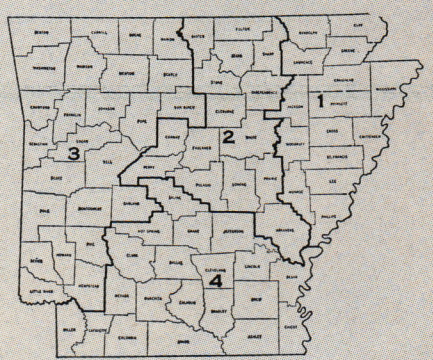

Sen. Fulbright

Sen. McClellan

Senators: John L. McClellan and J. William Fulbright, both Democrats. Senator Fulbright must stand election this year. He won a primary fight and is the Democratic nominee.

GOP Eyes Marginal Demo Districts

THE HOUSE of Representatives of the 90th Congress was made up of 247 Democrats, 187 Republicans, and one vacancy. In an effort to capture a majority in the next Congress, the Republicans are concentrating on 32 Congressional Districts which they consider to be marginal—that is, districts where the incumbent Democrat (usually with a liberal voting record) won by a small margin in the last election.

It is in these 32 Congressional Districts where the Republicans will concentrate their money and efforts to defeat the incumbent congressmen. Through an organization known as the United Republicans of America, the GOP hopes to make great inroads on the Democratic majority in the House of representatives.

The stated purpose of the United Republicans of America is to "elect conservative Republican candidates to the U.S. Congress."

Following are the congressional districts where the United Republicans of America will be concentrating their money efforts in 1968:

In California: The 22nd district where James C. Corman is the incumbent. The 29th district were George E. Brown, Jr., is the incumbent. In the 38th district, where John V. Tunney is the incumbent.

In Colorado: The 3rd district, where Frank E. Evans is the incumbent.

In Connecticut: The 4th district, where Donald J. Irwin is the incumbent.

In Illinois: The 3rd district, where William T. Murphy is the incumbent. In the 11th district, where Roman C. Pucinski is the incumbent.

In Indiana: The 5th district, where J. Edward Roush is the incumbent. The 9th district, where Lee H. Hamilton is the incumbent.

In Iowa: The 2nd district, where John C. Culver is the incumbent.

In Maine: The 1st district, where Peter N. Kyros is the incumbent.

In Maryland: The 5th district, where Hervey G. Machen is the incumbent.

In Minnesota: The 4th district, where Joseph E. Karth is the incumbent.

In Montana: The 1st district, where Arnold Olsen is the incumbent.

In New Jersey: The 3rd district, where James J. Howard is the incumbent. The 9th district, where Henry Helstoski is the incumbent.

In New Mexico: (An at-large contest.) The incumbent is E. S. Johnny Walker.

In New York: The 3rd district, where Lester Wolff is the incumbent. The 5th district, where Herbert Tenzer is retiring. The 25th district, where Richard L. Ottinger is the incumbent. The 27th district, where John G. Dow is the incumbent. The 28th district, where Joseph Resnick is retiring. The 39th district, where Richard McCarthy is the incumbent.

In North Carolina: The 5th district, where Nick Galifianakis is the incumbent. In the 6th district where Horace Kornegay is retiring. The 11th district, where Roy A. Taylor is the incumbent.

In Oklahoma: The 2nd District, where the incumbent is Ed Edmondson. The 4th district where Tom Steed is the incumbent.

In Pennsylvania: The 4th district, where Joshua Eilberg is the incumbent. The 15th district, where Fred B. Rooney is the incumbent.

In Tennessee: The 7th district, where Ray Blanton is the incumbent.

In Texas: The 3rd district, where the late Joe R. Pool won by a plurality of only 4,493 votes in 1966.

RTW Bill Killed In Louisiana

A new "right-to-work" proposal was recently beaten down soundly in a committee of the Louisiana legislature.

The Louisiana House Labor and Industry Committee considered the proposed constitutional amendment—a plan to outlaw the union shop—and then voted 13 to 3 to kill the bill.

AS A YARDSTICK to measure performance of Congressmen and Senators in the area of legislative importance to the members of the Teamsters, DRIVE (the legislative and political arm of the Teamsters) chose four issues and tabulated the vote of senators. (A similar tabulation on congressmen appeared in the March, 1968, issue of the International Teamster.) An explanation of the four issues used to measure senators appears at the end of this article. Here's how those senators who must stand election this year voted on these issues:

* Not a candidate for reelection

1. An announced candidate for Democratic Presidential nomination.

The senate yardstick contained four issues:

1. Election Reform; An amendment to prohibit DRIVE and other labor sponsored political organizations from giving voluntarily contributed money to endorsed candidates for Congress. This amendment would have destroyed labor's political action programs. It was rejected 19-46. A vote against the amendment was a "R" vote.

2. Social Security: An amendment to reduce proposed increases in social security benefits below that proposed by the Senate Finance Committee. It was rejected 22-58. A vote against the amendment was a "R" vote.

3. Teacher Corp: An amendment to raise the appropriation to the level requested by the Administration to insure an effective program. It was rejected 43-45. A vote for the amendment was a "R" vote.

4. Compulsory Arbitration: An amendment impounding 10 per cent of the railroad companies profits during the period workers could not strike during the railroad dispute, as an incentive to make the companies bargain in good faith and lead to a voluntary settlement. It was defeated 23-59. A vote for the amendment was a "R" vote.

3 Unions Strike Campbell Soup As Bargaining Impasse Reached

THE "DIVIDE and Conquer" collective bargaining practices of Campbell Soup Company are the targets of a strike at that company by the Teamsters and the International Association of Machinists, and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters.

Four plants of the company are now shut down by union pickets, and more could come down if the company continues to fight 20th century bargaining patterns.

Approximately 1,200 Teamsters left their jobs July 25th in support of their demands for wage increases, cost-of-living clause, non-contributory insurance, improved pensions and vacations, a ninth holiday, and to resist retrogressive clauses sought by the company.

About 1,100 members of the Meat Cutters went on strike July 22, in Paris, Texas.

On July 29th, about 3,400 Machinists walked out in Camden, N.J. The Meat Cutters went out 1,250 strong in Napoleon, Ohio.

A "Don't Buy Campbell Products" campaign is underway by organized labor.

Commenting on the strike, Teamster General Vice President Frank E. Fitzsimmons declared:

"After years of trying to get the officials of Campbell Soup to engage in 20th century collective bargaining without success, this strike action was taken as a last resort.

"No longer will this company be allowed to play one union against the other, to engage in its paternalistic attitude which has dictated terms of settlement in the past," Fitzsimmons said.

Another Crack in Wall

Miami Teamsters Score Victories In Trio of Winn Dixie Elections

Another crack in the wall of Winn Dixie's longtime opposition to unions for its employees was made recently when Miami Teamsters won National Labor Relations Board representation elections for 3 separate units.

W. Howard Lasater, president of Teamster Local 390 and coordinator of the organizing campaign, said the elections resulted in:

—Truck drivers voting 34 to 22 for Local 390.

Warehousemen voted 62 to 17 for Local 390.

—Bakery workers voting 39 to 15 for Teamster Local 198, also of Miami.

The organizing of the more than 200 Winn Dixie workers was one of the biggest breakthroughs scored at the food chain which has seen several units organized by Teamsters elsewhere in the past couple of years.

For the past 15 years, Lasater said, the company has resisted all attempts at organizing by handing out wage increases every time the union negotiated wage hikes at Food Fair and A&P stores. But there came a time when the Winn Dixie employees realized that a freeloading role wouldn't provide them job security and the other benefits guaranteed in a strong Teamster agreement.

Lasater gave credit to organizers Mitch Ledett from Teamster Local 270 in New Orleans, La., and Gid Parham of Teamster Local 528 at Atlanta, Ga., for assistance in the campaign. Locally, Business Agents Travis Dumas and Joe Kane of Local 390, and Eli Schutzer of Local 198 also worked with committees to help achieve the success.

Negotiations on a contract were expected to begin after proposal meetings of the new members. Lasater said Lloyd Hicks, business representative, would head the negotiating team.

Voter Registration

The Maine State Federated Labor Council has purchased the vehicle pictured here and turned it into a mobile voter registration booth. The project is sponsored by Teamster Local 340, the International Association of Machinists, and the Labor Council. The mobile unit will tour the state registering members of organized labor and their friends. Shown here at a Terminal of Adley Express in South Portland are Roger Hare, IAM representative; Henry Butterfield and Robert Heskett, members of Local 340 employed at Adley registering to vote; and Albert Page, Local 340 secretary-treasurer.

Seat Belt Workers Vote For Teamsters

Production workers employed by the American Safety Equipment Corp., a manufacturer of seat belts in Fresno, Calif., voted overwhelmingly for representation by Teamster Local 431 in a recent National Labor Relations Board election.

Harry Kachadoorian, secretary-treasurer of Local 431, said there were 229 workers eligible to ballot. The vote, a two-thirds majority, was 142 for the Teamsters, 72 against, and 2 ballots were challenged.

In 1st Half of '68

Teamsters Union Organizing Outdistances Rest of Labor

IF there were a world series in union organizing, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters would win the crown hands down.

Figures for the first half of 1968 show that Teamsters Union organizing results are so far ahead of the rest of organized labor that there is no contest.

National Labor Relations Board statistics for the January-June period reveal that Teamster affiliates have participated in more representation elections, have won more elections, and gained more new members than any other international union in the land.

Best barometer of organizing know-how is in the area of single-union elections of which there were 3,416 conducted by the NLRB in the first 6 months of the year. Teamster affiliates participated in 994—or better than 29 per cent—of those 3,416 elections, and won 554 of the total 1,850 such elections won by all unions—an average of nearly 30 per cent.

Of the 81,547 employees that were eligible to vote in all the single-union election units that were won, some 16,593 voted Teamster. That means better than 1 of every 5 new union members flocked to the Teamster banner.

Counting 2-union elections and multi-union elections, Teamster victories added a total of 23,699 new members to the IBT rolls in the first half of 1968.

Altogether, Teamster affiliates took part in 129 2-union elections, winning 62 of them involving 5,234 workers.

In elections where 3 or more unions were on the ballot, Teamsters won 4 elections covering another 1,872 workers.

Tampa Local Wins Ruling On Discharge

The National Labor Relations Board recently adopted the trial examiner's finding that Ross Chevrolet, Inc., of St. Petersburg, Fla., discharged James Ramsdell because of his activity for Teamster Local 79 of Tampa.

The Board said the hearings showed that Ramsdell, admittedly a good mechanic with several years on the job at Ross Chevrolet, very actively supported Local 79's organizational drive. Ramsdell's support of the union was well known to the employer as he openly solicited about 30 employees to sign union cards and distributed union literature on the company parking lot. Ramsdell was terminated allegedly for overstating a labor charge after being warned about similar prior conduct.

Noting that the company was hostile to the union and strongly opposed organization of its workers—as shown by its solicitation of employees to sign an anti-union letter and its threats of discharge for distribution of union literature even on non-work time—the examiner concluded the company fired Ramsdell on a pretext since there was no evidence that Ramsdell was ever given any warning about his conduct.

Ross Chevrolet was ordered by the Board to cease the unlawful conduct and reinstate Ramsdell with backpay and interest.

Safe Drivers

• D & H Victory

Truck drivers, warehousemen and outside salesmen employed by T. Frank McCall's, Inc., a dealer in sanitation and garden supplies at Chester, Pa., voted overwhelmingly for representation by Teamster Local 312 in a recent National Labor Relations Board election, according to Charles McLaine, secretary-treasurer of the local union.

Western Retiree Writes

Frank Fitzsimmons

Dear Sir and Brother:

I want to thank you and Jimmy Hoffa and everyone connected in any way with the pension plan. I joined Local 85 in San Francisco, Calif., in 1905. I am getting hospital care and a good pension to live on. I want to thank Local 85 and all who belong to it for helping me.

Red 'Medicine'

Chicago Council Establishes Blood Bank for Affiliates

Teamster Joint Council 25 in Chicago has established a blood bank in cooperation with the American Red Cross and Michael Reese Hospital.

Under the program inspired by International Vice President Ray Schoessling, president of the joint council, when 20 per cent of the group gives blood, all members plus their families receive blood coverage without charge.

First donors were most of the officers and staff members of local unions affiliated with the joint council.

If the blood is not used by the Teamsters, it will be made available to the public for emergencies. Blood that is not used within 3 weeks is processed and the plasma is removed for blood derivatives.

Blood "by-products" are used for emergency shock treatment, to prevent and modify measles and hepatitis, halt hemorrhaging in childbirth, control of bleeding in hemophilia, and to treat anemia.

As the Red Cross puts it: "Blood is medicine and none is wasted."

Blood sample for typing is given to a Red Cross volunteer by IBT Vice President Ray Schoessling, president of Joint Council 25 which has just inaugurated a blood bank.

Officers and staff members of Teamster local unions affiliated with Joint Council 25 were among the first donors to give their blood as the new blood bank program was launched.

Indianapolis Local Union Wins Case

An employer unlawfully refused to bargain with Teamster Local 135 of Indianapolis, Ind., discharged or laid off 4 employees because of their union activity, and interrogated and threatened employees, said the National Labor Relations Board in a recent decision.

The ruling came in a case involving Interstate Equipment Co., Inc., Interstate Highway Express, Inc., and Cletus G. Allen, sole proprietor, doing business as Allen Motor Express of Bedford, Ind.

The Board agreed with the examiner that the union represented a majority of the company's truck drivers when it made an initial demand for bargaining upon the employer in March, 1966. But the employer refused the union's offer to submit authorization cards and made it clear recognition would be granted only after an NLRB election.

Thereafter, the examiner found, the employer committed the unfair labor practices cited in the decision. The Board ordered the company to cease the unlawful conduct, bargain with the union upon request, and reinstate the 4 discriminatees with backpay and interest.

• Printing Co.

A majority of the 93 employees of Bell & Howell Co., a business form printing plant in Knoxville, Tenn., recently voted for representation by Teamster Local 519 in a National Labor Relations Board election.

George R. Clapp, Local 519 secretary-treasurer, said the new bargaining unit includes all production and maintenance workers, including: Wrapper leadman, production clerk, production scheduler, shipping clerk and other plant clerical workers.

• Machinists

Machinists employed by Anchor Pre-Con, Inc., a manufacturer of concrete blocks and lightweight blocks in St. Paul, Minn., recently voted unanimously for representation by Teamster Local 120 in a National Labor Relations Board election, according to Ramon Zamora, business representative of the local union.

SPOTLIGHT ON
Legislation and Politics

• Campaign Boomerang

An Indiana congressman recently told how he, when campaigning for reelection to his second term in Congress, addressed a group in a rural community. After his speech, a listener approached the congressman and said: "Son, I like what you say, and I believe I'll vote for you. By golly, anything will be better than the congressman we have now."

• Inflation and Politics

Republican campaigners are showing signs of whipping up the inflated cost-of-living as a surprise major issue. They already have quietly distributed bread-and-butter tables of figures asserting that the dollar has devalued more under Democratic administrations than Republican administrations since 1949.

• Fiscal Analysis

Starting in 1969, the Federal Reserve Board will send to Congress early each year an analysis of the financial implications for the nation's monetary policy in general, according to Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin, chairman of the Joint Economic Committee which requested the report.

• Rat Control Lacks Teeth

The rat-control bill, laughed out of Congress a year ago and then finally passed, still has no teeth—money, that is. Some 60 cities still wait for funds from Congress. They are expected to keep right on waiting through the fall.

• Plug for Loophole Plug

A new plea for closing the "outrageous oil-gas depletion allowances" loophole was sounded recently by Rep. Lester L. Wolff of New York. He declared that the loopholes are costing American taxpayers billions of dollars a year "at a time of great economic stress in the nation."

• Year-Around Sessions

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield says it is time for Congress to reconcile itself to meeting on a year-around basis. He said the press of federal government growth, congressional responsibilities and the multitude of complex problems rule out any shorter schedule.

• Food Stamp Discrimination

Apparently striking workers and college students are second-class citizens in the eyes of the House of Representatives which, when passing a liberalized food stamp program, approved a ban on issuance of food stamps to those two groups of people.

• Scabmaster Supports Wallace

Financier Edward Ball, who runs the strike-bound Florida East Coast Railway, is reported by the St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times to be one of the bank-rollers for a group seeking to elect George Wallace as president. Railroadmen have been striking Ball's line for more than 5 years, seeking pay and conditions on a par with other railroaders.

• Pipeline Safety Signed

President Johnson signed into law a bill giving the federal government authority to set up safety standards for nearly 800,000 miles of natural gas pipelines. In signing the legislation backed by the Teamsters and other unions, LBJ noted that the law creates complete and enforceable safety procedures regulating pipeline transportation of flammable, toxic and corrosive gases.

For Your Information

• Air Traffic Study

Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boyd has announced formation of an advisory committee to plan for air-traffic control for 1980 and beyond "to maintain in the future today's safety levels for air travel."

The cabinet officer predicted that by 1980, the number of jet airliners will triple while the total number of aircraft flying hours will double.

• Wage Gains

Major collective bargaining settlements during the first 6 months of 1968 provided an average wage increase of 23 cents an hour in the first contract year, according to preliminary figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Settlements were concluded for one-fifth of the 10½ million workers covered by major collective bargaining agreements in the initial 6-month period.

BLS said the median life-of-contract increase in the first-half contracts amounted to 5.2 per cent a year—up from an even 5 per cent for all of 1967.

• Cost of Health

Personal expenditures for health care have increased from $24.7 billion to $41.5 billion annually, according to Wilbur S. Cohen, Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He indicated recently that more than one-third of the multi-billion-dollar increase could be attributed to increases in medical care costs. The rest of the increase is attributable to population gains and greater utilization of services and new techniques.

• Unsafe Tire Pressures

A survey by Northwestern University's Traffic Institute, which checked cars using an Illinois expressway, revealed that more than a third of the autos had one or more tires in unsafe operating condition.

Overloading of tires was one of the major reasons for unsafe operating conditions. The institute determined that changes in designation of tire sizes and the appearance of many new types of tires contributed to driver confusion.

Mixing types of tires also was a common danger discovered in the survey, due to differences in wheel well clearance, rim sizes, and load ratings.

• Unwanted Merchandise

Attempts to dupe consumers into buying unneeded articles by sending unordered merchandise to their homes have been increasing across the nation, according to the Federal Trade Commission.

Operators of such rackets, said FTC spokesmen, try to deceive the consumer into believing he must either pay for the merchandise or return it.

There is no obligation if the merchandise isn't used, and it can be thrown away without incurring any obligation, according to the FTC.

• Labor Handbook

The Labor Department has just issued a 350-page volume, "The Handbook of Labor Statistics," which contains 152 tables on historic and current developments in areas affecting workers.

Considered are figures on manpower, compensation, productivity, prices, cost of living, industrial relations, and other related areas. The volume is intended for research.

The handbook is available for $2.50 from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402. It also can be obtained from regional offices of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

• Soft Drink Industry

The Teamsters Union Brewery & Soft Drink Division says a study of soft drink sales in 1967 shows that the top 10 companies accounted for nearly 70 per cent of all soft drinks sold in the United States.

Coca-Cola topped the list with 975 million cases —some 29.7 per cent of the market. In second place was Pepsi-Cola with 470 million cases or 14.2 per cent of the market.

After a year of testing, Coca-Cola is now taking the wraps off a new frozen carbonated beverage in its drive toward a still bigger share of the market.

• Doctors Get Prescription

President Johnson has appealed to the nation's doctors to "exercise restraint in their fees and in their charges" so as to reduce the rising costs of medicare.

LBJ, in a speech to the National Medical Association, said the demand for medical services is going up while the supply is going down.

The resultant pressure, said the President, is leading to higher costs. He added, "This trend must be stopped."

• Hot Teamster Pace

Teamster organizing during June, as reflected in terms of single-union election activity, again dominated the labor movement according to National Labor Relations Board statistics for that month.

Teamster affiliates took part in 193—or better than 31 per cent—of the total 617 single-union elections, and won 108—or nearly 33 per cent of the 329 ballots won by all unions.

Of 16,141 workers eligible to vote in the units won by all unions in the single-union balloting, some 3,465—better than 1 of every 5 workers—voted Teamster.

• Truck Tonnage

The volume of intercity freight transported by truck during the first quarter of 1968 was 7.9 per cent above the tonnage transported in the same quarter of 1967, according to an analysis by the American Trucking Assns., Inc.

ATA said 8 of the 9 geographical regions had increased tonnage over the first quarter of last year. New England carriers showed the largest gain with tonnage up 11.5 per cent.

Carriers in the Central, Middle Atlantic and Midwestern regions all reported tonnage increases of 10 per cent or more. A slight decrease was reported by Pacific region carriers.

• Want Ads and Sex

Newspaper want ads placed under separate "male" and "female" headings will be illegal after next Dec. 1, unless sex is a "bona fide occupational qualification," according to the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

The Commission has ruled that separating want ads by sex for the convenience of job-seekers "has a discriminatory effect, by indicating employer preference."

• Substitute Milk Fizzles

Reports are that substitute milk products are not getting consumer reception hoped for by some dairy companies.

Consumers generally are still skeptical of the nutritional value of the substitutes, also prices of the substitute milk are not much lower than regular milk.

Companies, meanwhile, continue to push the substitute milk with heavy advertising because the profit margin is greater.

• Social Security

Regardless of which party puts its candidate in the White House next January, recipients of Social Security seem headed for one of the benefits enjoyed by workers whose income is protected by a union cost-of-living clause.

The GOP Platform calls for an "automatic cost of living" adjustment. Also, the platform calls for an increase in the amount of outside income social security recipients can make without loss of benefits.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Wilbur Cohen has called for a $15 a month increase, raising minimum benefits to $70 per month.

• Cigaret Smoking Drops

They're puffiing less and enjoying it more, according to the latest report by the Internal Revenue Service, which reports cigaret consumption dropped 0.24 per cent in fiscal 1968 to 571.2 billion from 572.6 billion in 1967.

Tobacco executives are placing the blame on televised messages which proclaim the hazards to health for the puffers. The drop is the most significant since the Surgeon General report on the smoking health hazards issued in 1964.

• A Grapeless St. Louis

Striking agricultural workers seeking decent wages, hours, and working conditions have received a boost from the mayor of a large mid-west city who says purchase of grapes is out until the workers win their victory.

St. Louis Mayor Alfonso J. Cervantes ordered the city to halt all purchases of grapes produced in California in support of the strikers.

• Election Aftermath

One cabinet member of the present Administration has announced that he does not expect to remain in the post under the next President of the United States.

Speaking in Chicago, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, who has served in the position under the late President Kennedy and under the Johnson administration, made the announcement.

• GI Cutback in Germany

A spokesman for the Defense Department has announced that a previously planned withdrawal of 33,000 soldiers and airmen from West Germany will continue despite the invasion of Czechoslovakia by neighboring countries and by Soviet Russia.

About 19,400 military personnel have been returned to the U.S. since early summer. The rest are due home in September.

• Disabled Vets to Get Increase

Approximately 1,952,000 service-disabled veterans will receive increased compensation payments beginning next January 1, under a bill signed by President Johnson.

Some 112,000 vets with 100 per cent service-connected disabilities will be increased from $300 to $400 a month. Some 1,840,000 veterans with service-connected disabilities rated 10 to 90 per cent will have their payments increased 8 per cent.

• Campaign Buttons

Hobbyists and collectors are hot on the trail of old political campaign buttons, with such rare items as the 1948 official Truman-Barkley buttons carrying a likeness of both men going at a retail price of $25. A specialty company which retails campaign material estimates there are 10,000 collectors of campaign paraphernalia, and estimates there are two collections in existence which are valued at more than $100,000.

WHAT'S NEW?

Million Mile Speedometer

At least one major manufacturer doesn't believe in planned obsolescence. The producer of this new product has gone so far as to warranty its use for 250,000 miles. This electronic speedometer has been designated as standard equipment on all new buses for the Nation's largest interstate passenger carrier. In addition, it has been tested by this firm for over three years in 600 buses in use in all parts of the country.

Tests show that conventional gear driven speedometers need repair every 50,000 to 75,000 miles and on the average these repairs run $150.00 per 100,000 miles. The company claims that this new speedometer can cut speedometer maintenance in half.

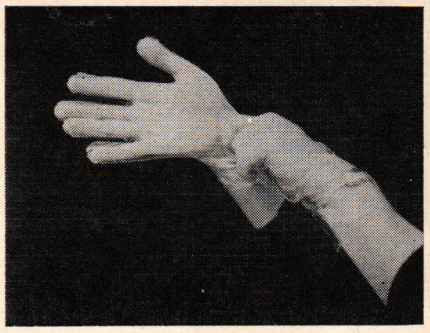

Company engineers also verify extreme accuracy of this instrument, less than a one per-cent margin of error at any speed.

The principles of operation of this speedometer insure its long life because of the absence of moving parts. The only moving part is the meter needle and therefore no stress points exist.

In operation, the electronic speedometer receives a pulse of electric current via a shielded electric cable running from the vehicle's front wheel to the dashboard. The current is produced by a magnetic field activated with the action of the wheels as they turn. This current in turn produces a "pulse" which is detected and measured as the speed of the vehicle.

Solid state circuitry and shielding prevent outside interference by other electrical equipment such as radios or signal lights. Temperature changes and vibration likewise have no effect on the unit.

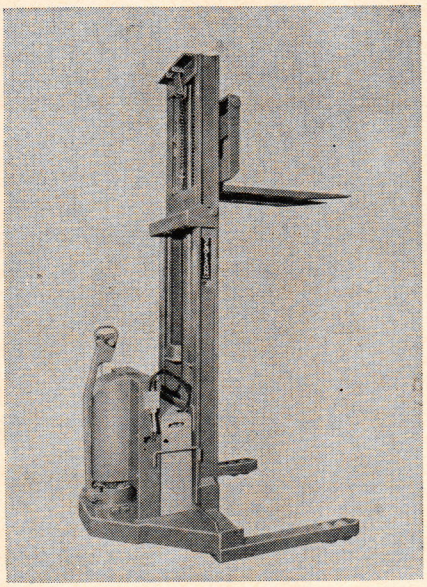

Disposable Gloves

These new, conveniant, disposable plastic gloves sell for about 3-cents a pair and are ideal for repairmen in any type of operation that requires dirty work but calls for neat appearances. Ideal for protection against irritation in chemical work, they are carefully shaped for comfortable fit and allow for unrestricted movement and finger sensitivity.

Warehouse Dolly

A streamlined and modernized warehouse dolly is being designed and marketed by a respected firm manufacturing industrial material handling equipment.

The company claims this model is capable of lifting up to 4,000 pounds with a maximum load length of 48 inches. It is powered by a 12 volt industrial battery system with three forward and one reverse speed controlled by a butterfly switch.

Other specifications include; a fork width of 4″; a 10′ x 5′ solid rubber tire drive wheel and 4″ diameter tandem load wheels.

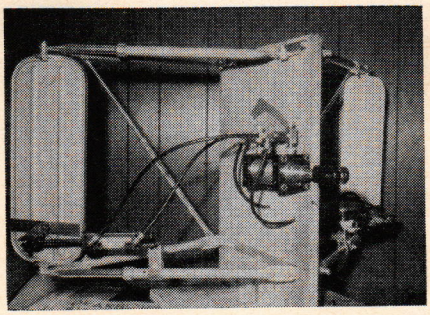

Spray-On Traction

For motorists who frequently find themselves in icy driving conditions.

The producer of this new product claims it can triple the traction of any vehicle with one simple application. This compound has been tested on some 25,000 automobiles before marketing and was proven to be 78% effective. Among other attributes of this compound of specially blended resins; it can't harm clothes, painted surfaces or tires.

Hydraulic Mirror Control

Two Teamster members have developed a working model of a moveable mirror system to provide vehicle operators with visual observation of all areas while the vehicle is turning.

The system is actuated on a hydraulic control principle and, when connected to existing members on the steering columns and standard rear and side view mirrors, it allows the mirrors to turn at the same angle as the wheels. This overcomes the problem of vision blockage or "blind spots caused by obstructions on the vehicle itself.

This invention also overcomes the expense and possibility of malfunction common to similar mechanisms using a gear driven actuation.

LAUGH LOAD

"I'm starved. Bring on the feed bag."

"Poor, Junior! All his pals have summer jobs and he has no one to play with."

"As long as you're up, bring me a glass of water."

The Pause That Refreshes

A quick thinking laborer came up with a new one when his foreman said. "Hey, bud, how come you're sleeping on the job?"

"Goodness gracious," the worker replied, "can't a man close his eyes for a moment of prayer?"

Not Ready Yet

A man reading birth and death statistics in a public library, turned to his friend after some quick calculations and stated, "every time I breathe some one dies."

His friend replied, "would you mind breathing in the other direction?"

Like Father Like Son

Father: "My boy, I never kissed a girl until I met your mother. Will you be able to say the same thing to your son?"

Son: "Yes, but maybe not with such a straight face."

Keep Smiling

Husband: "Every time I look at that new hat of yours I want to laugh."

Wife: "Really! Then I'll leave it around when the bill arrives."

Soften 'Em Up

A boy who usually earned extra money mowing lawns was slow about leaving his house one Saturday morning, and his father asked him why. "Oh," he answered, "I'm waiting 'til they get started. I get most of my work from husbands who are already half way through."

No Prompting Please

On an early morning breakfast food show, the announcer was quizzing a six-year-old guest. "Well, sonny, what cereal do you prefer in the morning?" he asked bouncily. There was no answer.

"You do eat cereal, don't you?" insisted the emcee, with a smile at the audience. No answer.

"Now come on, you mustn't be shy!" he laughed. "Tell us your favorite cereal."

Suddenly the little boy's voice piped, "Mister, you're hurting my arm."

Ahead

Two men met who hadn't seen each other for some time, but one had heard that his friend had recently been jilted. Sympathetically he said, "So you loved and lost, my boy. Too bad."

"On the contrary, old man," said the other cheerfully. "I came out ahead. She returned all my presents and accidentally included two from some other guy."

Wilson Decries Mob Law Lynch Rule 'Disgraceful'

Men who join such mobs condemned by President Wilson as "unworthy" of our free institutions.

FOR the second time since this country entered the war President Wilson has publicly denounced alleged "Americans" who resort to mob law and lynching courts to prove their "loyalty."

The President's first utterance on this subject was at last year's convention of the American Federation of Labor.

"I want to say to every man who does join such a mob," he declared, "that I do not recognize him as worthy of the free institutions of the United States."

In a proclamation on this subject the President again uses the English language in his plain and forceful manner in denouncing this "disgraceful evil," and calls upon peace officers of States, "and, above all, the men and women of every community in the United States, all who revere America and wish to keep her name without stain or reproach, to actively and watchfully assist in checking mob law.

"We are at this very moment fighting lawless passion," he says.

"Germany has outlawed herself among the nations because she has disregarded the sacred obligation of law and has made lynchers of her armies. Lynchers emulate her disgraceful example. I, for my part, am anxious to see every community in America rise above that level, with pride and a fixed resolution which no man or set of men can afford to despise.

"We proudly claim to be the champions of democracy. If we really are, in deed and in truth, let us see to it that we do not discredit our own. I say plainly that every American who takes part in the action of a mob or gives any sort of countenance is no true son of this great democracy, but its betrayer, and does more to discredit her by that single disloyalty to her standards of law and right than the words of her statesmen or the sacrifices of her heroic boys in the trenches can do to make suffering people believe her to be their savior.

"How shall we commend democracy to the acceptance of other peoples if we disgrace our own by proving that it is, after all, no protection to the weak?

"Every mob contributes to German lies about the United States, what her most gifted liars cannot improve upon by the way of calumny. They can at least say that such things cannot happen in Germany except in times of revolution, when law is swept away.

"I can never accept any man as a champion of liberty, either for ourselves or for the world, who does not reverence and obey the laws of our own beloved land, whose laws we ourselves have made. He has adopted the standards of the enemies of his country, whom he affects to despise."

A Labor Day Message

Labor Day has come and gone and it marks one other event in the life of the trade union world. Never in the history of the country did Labor Day mean as much as it did this year. Labor is greater today than ever before, because it has been just, and honest, and fair with all classes. Because it has lifted men up from the level of slaves to be free men. Because the trade union movement has educated men along the channels of justice and righteousness. That is why the onward march of the trade union movement has continued to grow until its branches have their far-reaching effects in every city and town in our country. Do your share to keep this splendid movement alive, now that we are about to accomplish the real freedom that we have desired for years.

Lane Urges Resource Development Veterans Should Reclaim Land

To give our returned soldiers an opportunity to live a bigger and more independent life this country must develop its natural resources for the soldiers' and the nation's good, and Uncle Sam must become their banker, their partner and their best friend while he is doing so.

"It has been officially estimated," said Secretary Lane, "that more than 15,000,000 acres of irrigable lands now remain in the Government's hands. Large as the figure may seem, this is only an item in the resources to which I refer. There are seventy or eighty million acres of swamp and overflowed land in the country, most of which is privately owned, but which, without Government action, will always remain worthless. There are, in addition, perhaps 200,000,000 acres of cut-over land, once wooded, but now worthless or almost so, which nothing short of a gigantic national project could reclaim.

"Why not reclaim these lands? Why not transform them into fertile farms and beautiful homesteads? The war has taught us that we can do it if we will, and it has also taught us the necessity.

"There is a reason, a sufficient reason, why the farms cannot attract the city bred and why they cannot even hold their own young men. People do not flock to the cities because they prefer the smoke and noise, but because the city seems to them to be the center of things and the farm seems so far away from the life of the world.

"If we are to meet the situation before it becomes a crisis, we must not only turn our attention toward making agriculture pay, in the strictly economic sense, but we must see if the inspirations and attractions of world-life cannot be brought to the farm. I believe they can. I believe the economic and spiritual disadvantages of the farm can both be overcome by the almost magic touch of co-operation."
